

I do declare . . .

Within minutes of popping a baking sheet of Mammie's Famous Cheese Wafers into the oven, I was transported back to Mac Mac's kitchen. My Southern grandmother perfected the art of mixing Cheddar cheese, butter, flour and a speck of cayenne with pecans from the tree in her backyard into a quick dough. She rolled the dough into logs. One she sliced thinly and baked, and the other she stashed in the freezer. That log was insurance that in minutes she could serve something wonderful to unexpected guests.

Mammie's wafers, from the freezer case at Fresh Market, 1303 Jamestown Road in Williamsburg, baked up just as light, crisp and decadent. A 14-ounce log thaws just enough to slice in about 10 minutes at room temperature. Best of all, you can slice and bake part of it and return the rest to the freezer for another day. Also available at Fresh Market, 744 Hilltop North Shopping Center in Virginia Beach and online at www.mamieswafers.com. Suggested retail price range, $7-$8.

• Send tips on new food or kitchen equipment to Lmahoney@timesdispatch.com